

Portugal electric vehicle market

Overview

Electric mobility in Portugal continued growing in 2025 after a record 2024, surpassing its previous record and reaching a total of 56,156 registrations (+34.5%) for battery electric vehicles and 33,884 (+19). The market is projected to reach USD 81.83 Billion by 2033, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 31. Growth accelerated in 2025 from the levels in 2024 as total. After nine months, the industry has already chalked up 199,714 new registrations, a jump of 6. The headline, however, only hints at the deeper story: most of the momentum comes from an electrified fleet that is quietly turning combustion engines into a niche product. In June 2022, Portugal was one of five European countries proposing to postpone the European Union deadline for reducing light vehicle carbon dioxide emissions by five years, with the aim to reduce them by 100 percent by 2040 instead of 2035. 2% between January and August, with 92,387 units sold, according to data from ACAP – the Portuguese Automobile Association. By TPN, in News, Business, Portugal · 02 Sep 2025 · 0 Comments In a statement, the association said that this market.
